Howdy! My name is Mike Zeibaq. My wife Jamie and I have 2 kids playing this great sport of Hockey. I have been immersed in the game of hockey for more than 38 years—as a player, coach, and leader. Originally from Long Island, New York, my career includes playing Division I college hockey and Minor League professional hockey before transitioning into impactful leadership roles within the Houston hockey community.

As the current President of the Houston Junior Aeros, I am committed to advancing the organization into a premier program focused on player development, personal growth, and fostering a positive hockey culture. My leadership has also been instrumental in growing the Houston Girls Hockey Association (HTX Storm), where I have served as the Hockey Director for the past 5 years, helping expand the program to more than 100 local players.

Beyond the rink, I am the President and owner of a successful food distribution company that has served the greater Houston area for nearly two decades. My passion for hockey extends beyond competition—dedicated to providing opportunities for kids to learn, have fun, and develop into not only great athletes but great people.

Thank You!
